The parent/guardian nominated on the junior registration will have full rights of membership of BBFC (see Part 3, Rule 4, Clause 2e of the club constitution available at our website).

Who are the coaches/team managers?

Coaches and managers are required for each team and are parents of players who volunteer to take on these roles and their nominations are accepted by the Management Committee. These individuals support your players giving their own time. Please remember to thank them for their efforts and to provide parental interest and support them in any way that you are able.

The club recognises Coaches each year who have contributed to their teams or the club at a Coach of the Year Award is presented at the BBFC Presentation Day.

When is training?

Most teams train at least once a week as determined by the coach. Once teams have been organised and the coach appointed, the coach will notify each player in the team regarding training. All players should arrive at training early so they are prepared to take the field on time. Training runs for a set time and parents are requested to collect players at the end of the training session.

Parents/guardians should make themselves known to the coach prior to collecting their children from training. For the safety of our young players they are not allowed to leave the pitch unless accompanied by a parent/guardian. Please ensure a hand over occurs before and after training.

Training for under 6 and under 7 is conducted before games on Saturdays. Under 8 to under 18 are held on weekday afternoons and nights at the Calwell Fields.

How do players and parents have to behave?

BBFC abides by the Capital Football and FFA code of conduct. It is required that players, coaches and parents/carers/spectators abide by these codes.

Swearing will not be tolerated at any time. For junior league there is a zero tolerance at match time and coaches are encouraged to continue that zero-tolerance policy at all training sessions. Swearing during match time can result in an automatic red card being issued by the referee and a minimum of one week suspension. Players/Spectators will be responsible for any fines imposed as a result of their behavior.

Any swearing or other unacceptable behavior displayed during training may result in the coach requesting a player to be removed from the training session. Please encourage your children to abide by the rules that the coaches set down for training sessions.

What happens when we attend games?

It is the responsibility of all registered players to make every effort to attend all games. Individuals are requested to be at games not less than thirty minutes before the start of a game. If a player is not able to attend a game either the coach/team manager should be notified as soon as possible.

Parents/guardians are requested to remain at matches to support the players during the game and to collect them at the end of the game. We discourage 'dump and run' as the club is not a child care facility. Parents/carers need to undertake at least one preferably more BBQ duties during the season.

What about the privacy of information supplied?

BBFC respects the privacy of all individuals. Details are provided to Capital Football and FFA for the purpose of registration and insurance and also to the team coaches and managers for the purpose of administration of the team.

All images taken of members by authorised BBFC officials remain the property of BBFC. The club uses these images in promotional activities. By making application for registration and membership, the applicant and parents or guardians agree to images being taken and used under these terms.

What should players do if they change their contact details?

You need to update your own account details on-line at <https://www.playfootball.com.au>

Are there any fundraising activities?

A number of fundraising activities are organised throughout the year and your participation is encouraged. This keeps the registration fees down.

The club also seeks any (no strings attached) sponsorship opportunities from local business and we are happy to promote your business on our website.

Are players covered by insurance?

Players are covered for some medical costs by an insurance policy if they are injured during an official game or official training. The player registration fee includes a component to cover the premium for each player, paid on behalf of all clubs by Capital Football. The club also has a public liability policy through association with Capital Football.

If a player is injured and requires treatment and the parent/guardian, wishes to claim on the insurance please visit www.bbfc.org.au click on the insurance link on the home page and follow the steps.

NOTE: The club is not responsible for any costs associated with injury – this is an insurance matter. If there is a concern, parents should contact the insurance company prior to registering their child to play.

What happens when it is raining on match or training days?

Parents and players should note that just because it is raining it does not mean matches will be cancelled. There may be washouts but it will only be called off if the ground is found to be unplayable.

Please DO NOT call the club. The club cannot handle the volume of calls.

Check the BBFC website or Facebook first. The coach, manager or an assistant may also call/email team members on training days.

Are there any specific instructions when at the grounds?

Can I volunteer to help?

Brindabella Blues Football Club prides itself on being a club where everyone can get involved and make a difference. Each season the club depends on the participation of parents and volunteers to create a great and exciting football experience for every player.

How can I help?

It is easy. BBFC needs volunteers, parent helpers, game leaders, referees and coaches. There is also fundraising, line marking for fields, equipment management, match day co-ordination, BBQ services and more – everyone has something they can contribute.

What do I need to know?

You do not have to be able to play like Ronaldo or coach like Ferguson, have any qualification or even have played the game before you get involved. Parents as volunteers are essential to making the players training sessions and match days an enjoyable experience for all.

Of course, if you would like to assist in a coaching capacity, regular coach training and certification courses are run throughout the season. In addition, if you can play, maybe you could join one of the clubs senior teams.

What do I need to do?

Simply fill out the volunteer section of Registration questions when registering or just send an email and you will be contacted shortly.

What is MiniRoos?

MiniRoos (formerly known as Small Sided Football) are modified forms of 11-a-side football, designed to meet the needs of players under the age of 13, who have very different developmental characteristics and needs to adult players. The philosophy of MiniRoos focuses on enjoyment and freedom of expression with limited emphasis on coaching per se, particularly in the formative years of a player's development.

Almost without exception, young players in the major footballing nations of the world are introduced to the game through MiniRoos. Brazil, France, England, Scotland, Ireland, The Netherlands, Germany, Japan, USA and Korea all introduce their young players to the game using this approach. Considerable research has been conducted into the benefits of MiniRoos in many of these countries. Overwhelmingly, the findings have shown that MiniRoos are enjoyed more by children and are a more effective method of improving their technical ability as footballers (compared to 11-a-side football).

Whilst there are exceptions, in most parts of Australia MiniRoos has been the widely- accepted format of the game for new players up until the age of eight or nine. The rules and regulations of MiniRoos vary in terms of field size and goal size as does the age at which players progress to 11-a-side football. At the age of 9 or 10, the general trend is for these players to then move to 11-a-side football on a full-size field where they compete against other clubs in the local area.

There has also been an inconsistent approach in terms of the philosophy of football at this age, with the emphasis or otherwise on competition, winning, points tables, finals and the like, with variations depending upon the particular state or territory and/or association. Whether players compete and/or play against other clubs or within their own club is generally decided on a local basis.

In 2009 Football Federation Australia (FFA) released the National Curriculum. The National Curriculum was a key initiative put forward in the FFA National Football Development Plan released in November 2007. The National Curriculum aims to provide national guidance and an integrated and consistent approach to the development of players and coaches throughout the country.
